

Art, Design & Architecture Collection

A comprehensive survey of current publications in the visual and applied arts

THE ART, DESIGN & Architecture Collection includes three seminal ProQuest A&I databases: ARTbibliographies Modern; International Bibliography of Art; and Design & Applied Arts Index; plus the full-text Arts & Humanities Database. The Avery Index to Architectural Periodicals is an optional add-on product.

- ARTbibliographies Modern is the only specialist bibliography available for the study of modern and contemporary art from the late 19th century onwards. ARTbibliographies Modern provides deeper coverage of publications on modern artists and movements than any other index.
- International Bibliography of Art is recognized as the world's most comprehensive bibliography of scholarly writing about the history of western art. International Bibliography of Art consists of bibliographic citations, abstracts, and subject indexing drawn from the Getty's thesaurus and authority files.
- Design & Applied Arts Index is an international abstracting and indexing tool for research in the humanities. Design & Applied Arts Index provides researchers with abstracts and bibliographic records for articles, news items, and reviews published in design and applied arts periodicals from 1973 onwards.

Why the Art, Design & Architecture Collection?

- Consolidated searching brings researchers the depth of information they seek.
- The bundled approach saves time and energy for the librarian who can manage one digital resource instead of four or five since there are fewer renewals to manage and more research value for the dollar.
- Harnessing these resources means researchers can conduct comprehensive art literature reviews access complementary full text and cross search this specialist art content efficiently.
- The collection can be cross-searched with related products on the ProQuest platform such as Art & Architecture Archive and Avery Index to Architectural Periodicals to provide an efficient experience and robust results.
